APARTMENT HOUSE IN ASHES.

Burned Sunday Morning. Sam Furrow And Wm. Embury Losers.

INSURANCE ON HOUSE.

Sunday morning about 11 o'clock the house on Second street occupied by the families of Mr. Sam Furrow and Mr. Wm. Embury, was totally destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have been caused by a defective flue. Mrs. Furrow was the first to discover the fire. She was in the kitchen when she saw the first flames which were bursting forth on the side walls. She called her husband and they immediately alarmed the neighbors. A large crowd of people from the Sunday Schools, the shops and Main streets came to the scene at once, but as usual they were helpless as they always are in a case of fire in Cloverport.

Some of the furniture was saved for both families, but it was very little. Mr. Furrow was probably the heaviest loser. He lost several dollars in cash and his wife's new sewing machine, on which only a few payments had been made, was burned too. This is the third time that Mr. Embury has been visited by fire.

The house was one of the oldest residences in town. It belonged to Mr. F. N. D'Hay, of Evanston, Ill. It was insured for $500. A bucket brigade was formed and projected the city jail and the homes of Mr. Burn, Tom Tousey and Joe Fitch.

They could not pay their fines and are compelled to work them out.

Whiskey was the cause of David Holmes' trouble which occurred in this city last week. "Exactly! I know you would!" knew you'd see it in that way!" cried Mortimer heartily. "You found it all Quarrier. I've always said you were that sort of man; that you'd never let a friend in on the top floor and kick him clear to the cellar. As a matter of fact, I sold out at 108. Well, here's a pencil, Lydia, give me that pad on your desk. Here you are, Quarrier. It's easy enough to figure out how much you owe me, Lydia, would you mind hunting up that check book I left here before die—"

He had made a mistake. The girl finished. He choked up and cast a startled glance at Quarrier. But Quarrier if he heard made no motion of understanding. Perhaps it had not been necessary to convince him of the conspiracy.

When he had finished his figure he reviewed them, tracing each total with his pencil's point, then quietly handed the pad to Mortimer, who went over it and nodded that it was correct.

Lydia rose. Quarrier said, without looking at her: "I have a blank check with me. May I use one of these pens?"

So he had brought a check! Had he supposed that a check might be necessary when Lydia called him up? Was he prepared to meet any demand of hers, too, even when Mortimer appeared on the scene?

"As long as you have a check with you, Howard," said Lydia quietly, "suppose you simply add Mr. Mortimer's amount what you had intended to offer me."

He stared at her without answering. "That little roundabout," for old time's sake. "Don't you recollect?"

"Why, Howard, I didn't you promise me all sorts of things when I wanted to go to your friend, Mr. Seward, and explain that it was not his fault I got into the business office? I don't you remember I felt dreadfully that he was expelled—that I was simply wild to write to the governors and tell them how I took Norfolk's case and drove to the club and waited until I saw a lot of men go in and then crowded in with the push?"

Mortimer was staring at Quarrier out of his protruding eyes. The girl leaned forward, deliberately, self-possessed, the red lips edged with growing scorn.

"That was a dirty trick," said Mortimer heavily. He took the pencil and added in his ear, passed it to Lydia, and she coolly understood it.

"That is the amount," she said lightly. "That is the amount," she said.

Quarrier looked at the girl. She had tossed upon the desk. Then he slowly wrote his pen with ink and, laying the book check flat, began to fill it in. Afterward, when he was done, he it carefully, pushed it aside and rose.

"It wouldn't be advisable for you to step forward, you know," observed Mortimer insolently, lying back in his chair and stretching his legs.

"I know," said Quarrier, pausing to turn on them a doubtful glance. Then he went away. After a while they heard the door close. But there was no sound from the electric hansom, and Mortimer rose and walked to the window.

"He's gone," he said. Lydia stood at the desk examining the check.

"I ought to afford a decent touring car now," she suggested—"like that yellow and black car of Mr. Plank's."

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

THE heat, which had been severe in June, during the last fashionable fortnight into the country, continued fiercely through July. August was stifling.

Nobody who was anybody remained in town except some wealthy idlers, men and their million old employees, but the million, being nobodies, didn't count.

Quarrier's huge limestone mansion, looming golden in the sun, was tenantless. Its owner, closing even the Sedges, his Long Island home, and driven northward for a breath of air.

The house of Mrs. Mortimer was closed and boarded up. A caretaker apparently Major Belvedere's protection for Sylvia, who lived behind the basement windows. As for Plank's great pile of masonry edging the outer suburbs in the north, several hundred workers were seen in it at night, and a big yellow and black touring car whizzed down town from his bronze garage every morning.

For there was a fight on that had steadily grown hotter with the weather and Plank had little time to consider his business with the temperature or to mop his red features over the weather bureau report. Harrington and Quarrier were after him—horse foot and dragons. Harrington had even taken a house at Seabright in order to be near in person, and Quarrier's move from Long Island to New York was not as flippant as it might appear, for he had his private car there and a locomotive at Black Point crossing station, and he was with striking distance of Rochester, Utica, Syracuse and Albany, which was what Harrington thought necessary.

The noise of the fray in the papers, which had first excited them, continued the outside public, continued in a desert of rumor, report, conjecture and rumormongering at the week's end. Some heads involving everybody and everything from the district attorney to Plank's office lay scattered in the air, passed it to Lydia, and she coolly understood it.

Pressing Down Pains

are a sign of serious female complaint, that should have immediate attention.

If you begin in time, you can generally treat yourself at home, without the need of consulting a physician, by the regular use of Card, the well-known remedy for women's ills.

Composed of purely vegetable and perfectly harmless medicinal ingredients, being, besides, a gentle, non-alcoholizing, strengthening tonic.

WINE OF CARD FOR WOMAN'S RELIEF

relieves all female complaints. "My wife," writes John A. Rodgers, of Hampden Sidney, Va., "was suffering last winter with a severe case of female trouble. She suffered agonies with bearings-down pains, headache, nervousness, etc. Doctors failed to relieve her, so she took Card, and in a few days was cured."

Fish and Sleep

Arlato, over 300 years R. C., laid it down that fish sleep. The great anatomist, and to an extent the old philosophy was correct. Recent scientific experiments have shown that carp, dace, roach, tench, gudgeon and minnow among fresh water fishes sleep periodically, like many living terrestrial creatures, and that of the marine fishes the bass, wrasse, dogfish, dory, conger and all the rest do the same. The salmon tribe, the goldfish, the pike and the angler fish rest periodically, never really asleep, while with those fishes which actually sleep there is no recuperation in their case of caloric energy—that is to say, bodily rest without sleep will mostly suffice to make up for the resultant in fatigue of pleasurable activity.

Resolutions Adopted by the White House Conference.

Governors of the several States sum up their views on the conservation of the resources of the nation.

WE THE Governors of the States and Territories of United States of America, in conference assembled, do hereby declare the conviction that the great prosperity of our country rests upon the abundant resources of the land chosen by our forefathers for their homes and where they laid the foundation of this great nation.

We look upon these resources as a heritage to be made use of in establishing and promoting the comfort, prosperity and happiness of the American people, but not to be wasted, deteriorated or needlessly destroyed.

We agree that our country's future is involved in this; that the great natural resources supply the material basis upon which our civilization must continue to depend, and upon which the perpetuity of the nation itself rests.

We agree, in the light of the facts brought to our knowledge and from information received from sources which we cannot doubt, that the material basis is threatened with exhaustion. Even as each succeeding generation from the birth of this nation has performed its part in promoting the progress and development of the republic, so do we in this generation recognize it as a high duty to perform our part, and this duty in large degree is the adoption of measures for the conservation of the natural wealth of the country.

We declare our firm conviction that this conservation of our natural resources is a subject of transcendent importance, which should engage unreservedly the attention of the nation, the states and the people in earnest co-operation. These natural resources include the land on which we live and which yields our food; the living waters, which fertilize the soil, supply power and form great avenues of commerce; the forests, which yield the materials for our homes, prevent erosion of the soil and conserve the navigation and other uses of our streams, and the minerals, which form the basis of our industrial life and supply us with heat, light and power.

We agree that the land should be so used that erosion and soil wash should cease; that there should be reclamation of arid and semi-arid regions by means of irrigation and of swamp and over-flooded regions by means of drainage; that the waters should be so conserved and used as to promote navigation, to enable the arid regions to be reclaimed by irrigation and to develop power in the interests of the people; that the forests, which regulate our rivers, support our industries and promote the fertility and productiveness of the soil, should be preserved and perpetuated; that the minerals found so abundantly beneath the surface should be used so as to prolong their utility; that the beauty, healthfulness and habitability of our country should be preserved and increased; that the sources of national wealth exist for the benefit of all the people, and that the monopoly thereof should not be tolerated.

We commend the wise forethought of the President in sending the note of warning as to the waste and exhaustion of the natural resources of the country and signify our appreciation of his action in calling this conference to consider the same and to seek remedies therefor through co-operation of the nation and the states.

We agree that this co-operation should find expression in equitable action by the Congress within the limits of and co-extensive with the national jurisdiction of the subject and, complementary thereto, by the legislatures of the several states within the limits of and co-extensive with their jurisdiction.

We declare the conviction that in the use of the natural resources our independent states are interdependent and bound together by ties of mutual benefits, responsibilities and duties.

We agree in the wisdom of future conference between the President, members of Congress and the governors of the states regarding the conservation of our natural resources, with the view of continued operation and action on the lines suggested. And to this end we advise that from time to time, as in his judgment may seem wise, the President call the governors of the states, members of Congress and others into conference.

We agree that further action is advisable to ascertain the present condition of our natural resources and to promote the conservation of the same, and to that end we recommend the appointment by each state of a commission on the conservation of natural resources, to co-operate with each other and with any similar commission on behalf of the federal government.

We urge the continuation and extension of forest policies adapted to secure the husbanding and renewal of our diminishing timber supply, the prevention of soil erosion, the protection of head waters, and the maintenance of the purity and navigability of our streams. We recognize that the private ownership of forest lands entails responsibility in the interest of all the people, and we favor the enactment of laws looking to the protection and replacement of privately owned forests.

We recognize in our waters a most valuable asset of the people of the United States and we recommend the enactment of laws looking to the conservation of water resources for irrigation, water supply, power and navigation, to the end that navigable and source streams may be brought under complete control and fully utilized for every purpose. We especially urge on the federal Congress the immediate adoption of a wise, active and thorough water policy, providing for the improvement of our streams and conservation of their water sheds, required for the uses of commerce and the protection of the interests of our people.

We recommend the enactment of laws looking to the prevention of waste in the mining and extraction of coal, oil, gas and other minerals, with a view to their wise conservation for the use of the people, and to the protection of human life in the mines.

Let us conserve the foundations of our prosperity.

From a Great Book.

"The factory stack was a black monument against the western sky. Its dark clouds of smoke had drifted into misty specks on the horizon; and the sun was shining triumphantly. Down in the street a man in a carriage hung a coin to a ragged cripple, and the boy hobbled after the money and smiled at his thankfulness. To Ruskin that smile was like a gleam of light in darkness. It awakened his old faith, and silenced his conflicting fears, and from the boy's gratitude he snatched a lesson that that would abide with him forever. He had tried to define love before; he had thought the tender affection he bore for his mother and the passionate dreams he had dreamed of Ruth covered it all. Now he saw differently. Love was too broad a thing to admit of any one definition. It was a synonym for life. It was the sympathy that touched a coin to a lame street urchin; it was the forgiveness that overlooked an enemy's fault; it was the courage that lifted the cross from another's shoulders to bear it on your own."—From "The Fall of the Mighty," by H. Graham Du Bois, in Taylor-Trotwood Magazine for June.

Doing Without the Dot.

The small letter "i" was formerly written without the dot. The dot was introduced in the fourteenth century to distinguish "i" from "e" in hasty and indistinct writing. The letter "i" was originally used where the letter "e" is now employed. The distinction between "i" and "e" was introduced by the Dutch printers at a comparatively recent date, and the "i" was dotted because the "i" from which it was derived, was written with a dot.

The Ostrich.
Professor Ingham in the report of the South African Association for the Advancement of Science alludes to a curious belief of the ostrich, which may have given rise to the once widely spread belief that it tries to hide itself by burying its head in the sand. The young chicks, it appears, when alarmed, lie down flat on the ground, with the neck stretched out. In this position they harmonize with their surroundings and are not easily seen. If taken up they are found to be limp and helpless and do not recover for some time. This is an instance—not uncommon in the animal world—of death feigning for protective purposes. Adult ostriches, however, being swift of foot, usually seek safety in flight. At times, however, if suddenly alarmed, as by the appearance of a man from the top of a kopje or from behind an ant hill, an adult bird will collapse and fall to the ground with outstretched neck. This, Professor DuRoi thinks, may be a reversion of the death feigning instinct of the chick, and it has probably given rise to the notion that the ostrich tries to escape observation by hiding its head in the sand.

To Get Them All Clean.

Norah, the "green" cook, poked her head in at the dining room door. "Please, ma'am," she asked, "an' how will I be knowin' when the puddin' is cooked?" "Stick a knife into it," said her mistress, recalling the cookbook instruction. "If the knife comes out clean the puddin' is ready to serve." "Is, ma'am." "And, oh, Norah," the mistress had an afterthought. "If the knife does come out clean you might stick all the rest of the knives into the puddin'."—Everybody's Magazine.

MR. BATES DEAD.

Funeral Held Saturday Afternoon
In The Bates Family Cemetery.

Saturday the remains of J. W. Bates were brought to this city and were interred in the Bates grave-yard that afternoon. Mr. Bates died of consumption at Hawesville Thursday night. He was thirty-eight years of age and is survived by his wife. His friends called him "Bud" and many here will remember him by that name.

His brother, Frank Bates is ill of the same disease and his death is momentarily expected.

Brother Bryan Inquires.

This query, which it calls "A Full-Grown Question," the Commoner prints weekly in its first column in type of increasing size: What is the extent of the financial interest held by Joseph Pulitzer, owner of the New York World, in railroad companies and in great corporations commonly known as trusts? This is a pertinent question because an honest answer might uncover the special interests for which the New York World speaks in its present-day attacks upon Democrats.

We don't know what Mr. Pulitzer's investments are, but suppose, for the sake of argument, that he had a million dollars in the stocks of the United States Steel Corporation, and another million, say, in the stock of various railway companies. Would that explain to Mr. Bryan's satisfaction the reluctance of the World to accept him as its candidate?

And if so, Brother Bryan, why? What do you propose to try to do, if you ever reach the White House, to make the securities of the Steel corporation and of all the railroads—less valuable than they are at present?

Do you wish it to be understood that you declare yourself to be the enemy of all the railroads, and therefore a natural object of apprehension to every owner of a railroad security? Nothing less than that is implied from the question you put to Mr. Pulitzer.

But Mr. Bryan, the face value of the securities of the railroads of the country foot up to about $15,000,000,000, and in 1906 the roads earned $790,000,000 and paid their owners over $500,000,000 in interest and dividends, besides paying 1,500,000 employees. If you regard yourself as the enemy of so large a share as that of the property of the country, you might as well stand up as the enemy of all property, for if you could succeed in doing serious damage to the railroad property of the country, you would injure the marketable value of every other kind of property that the country has.

Are you the enemy of all property, Brother Bryan, or do you make an exception of lecture earnings invested in farms and farm buildings (and perhaps farm mortgages) in Nebraska?—Harper's Weekly.

Mr. John Riba, of Yining, Ia., says: "I have been using DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. There are a dozen people here who have used them and they give perfect satisfaction in every case. I have used them myself with fine results." Sold by all druggists.

REORGANIZE.

Louisville Republicans Elect David W. Fairleigh Chairman.

The last blow to the Fairbanks forces in Louisville was struck by the Taft crowd Wednesday night, when the new Republican City and County Executive Committee unseated the five committee members elected at the primary convention April 25 last, and seated the five men on the Taft ticket. The canvassing board of the old City and County Executive Committee certified to the returns from the Eleventh ward which gave the election to the Fairbanks ticket. However, in the State Convention the Fairbanks delegates who were chosen at the election were thrown out and the Taft contestants given seats in the convention. This gave the City and County Committee precedent it claimed to follow.

The organization of the committee was also completed by the election of David W. Fairleigh chairman. Mr. Fairleigh said that his private business was such that it would be impossible to give the attention to the work that he would like to give for that reason tried to be off, but his colleagues would not permit it.—Courier-Journal.

PRETTY WEDDING

Prather-Dowell Nuptials Entertained at The Groom's Home

Black Jack, May 25.—(Special.)—The marriage of Geo. Prather and Lena Dowell which was solemnized at the Hill Grove church on last Wednesday at 7 p. m. was a beautiful affair. The church was beautifully decorated and the bride and groom entered to the strains of the wedding march, rendered by Miss Tula Jordan. The bride was handsomely gowned in an exquisite Persian material with lace and ribbon. After the ceremony they returned to the home of the groom where supper was served to only a few near relatives.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Prather, while the bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Eliza Dowell. Both are fine young people and everyone wishes them happiness in their sea of matrimony.

A great many people imagine they have heart trouble when the fact is that the whole trouble lies in the stomach. The pains in the side around the region of the heart are not necessarily heart trouble. We suggest that you start with the stomach and whenever you feel a depression after eating or whenever your food seems to nauseate take Kodol. It will not be very long until these "heart pains" will disappear. Take Kodol now and until you know you are right again. There isn't any doubt about what it will do and you will find the truth of this statement verified after you have used Kodol for a few weeks. It is sold here by all druggists.

A BUSINESS VIEW OF THE SITUATION.

It is a pity that the country should again be confronted with an attempt for political ends to sandbag the commercial and manufacturing interests for the benefit of a discredited labor organization and its votes. It is a worse pity that the attempt should come at a time when business needs nothing so much as to be let alone. It would be the worst pit of all if business were to be taken off its guard by the attempt, and that at least we are to be spared. The best answer to the question whether business men remember, and see the danger, is found in the ten thousand telegrams and letters of protest which last week poured in on Congress and the President from business men in Seattle and Tampa, in San Francisco and New York. That uprising showed conclusively that the men who went out from their banks and factories and stores and offices to help McKimley in 1896 are going to take a similarly decisive share in the protection of their own interests this year. There was no mistaking the point of last week's protest. It served notice that the business interests are tired of foolishness; that they are not going to stand for any more class legislation to help the chances of any political candidate. They are not asking for any legislation for their interests; those interests need peace more than the further beneficent attentions of the lawmakers. Even peace may be too dear at the price of suicide, however; and business men are coming to feel that it is better to fight than to be assassinated in the interests of a coalition of politics with "labor."—American Industries for May.

WHAT THE COUNTRY NEEDS.

What this country needs now is not a radical politician, but a man who is familiar with the underlying principles of business from the standpoint of a business man. The consensus of opinion, as it comes from the uttermost ends of this country, the highways and the byways, the industrial centers in all sections, is to the effect that the business men must again enter the arena of politics as they did in the Bryan and McKimley campaigns. America has been known for many years as a nation of traders. Is it not about time that the Government should be run with some regard for business principles?—American Industries for May.

You want to keep off the grass in the court house yard.

Don't plow in the mud. Better plow in the dust later on.

Willis Green, over at the Falls, tells us he intends to put in 700 acres of corn this season. We hope he will get it all in and gather next fall fifty thousand bushels.

There is a movement on foot in this town to build water works. It is a genuine soul-stirring move—a move that means business and water works. It will be a system built and owned by the city, and one that every tax-payer will be proud of. Let every citizen in the town get in touch with the movement; say a good word for it. If you can't say something good keep mum.

A man who spends much of his time traveling over Breckenridge county, and who keeps his eyes open, said that the more he sees of this good old county the more clearly he sees that this is one of the best all-around counties in Kentucky. "We can raise anything here that can be raised anywhere in this climate. We have the most hours between the rising and the setting of the sun, the longest seasons, and the lands, if given just half attention, will yield equal to any lands West or South." He went on to say that Breckenridge county was the garden spot of the earth for the young man, especially the young farmer. We like this man, Henry Head, and his life and his beliefs are as a big bit of sunshine to the county.

Hog Cholera.

The greatest drawback to the hog industry which breeders in this country have to contend with is what is known as "hog cholera" and "swine plague." Hog cholera is a highly contagious disease and unless checked is liable to carry off a great number of hogs in a very short time.

Mr. A. P. Williams, of Burnetts Creek, Ind., tells of an experience which he had with some hogs that had the cholera. "Five years ago," says Mr. Williams, "I was in the employ of Mr. J. D. Richardson, Lafayette, Ind., as his barn foreman. Some fine hogs that I was feeding took the cholera. I gave them Sloan's Liniment and did not lose a hog. Some were so bad they would not drink sweet milk and I was compelled to drown them. I have tried it at every opportunity since and always find it O. K."

Write for Dr. Sloan's free book on the treatment of Horses, Cattle, Hogs, and Poultry. Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan, 613 Albany Street, Boston, Mass.

P. H. Haslie, of Maryland, is the guest of Miss Ora Chapin.

Never Without Pe-ru-na in My House

So Writes Mr. C. G. Convers, Hot Springs, Arkansas.

There Are a Multitude of People in the United States Who Have Been Restored to Health By the Use of Pe-ru-na.

There are a multitude of people in the United States who have been restored to health by the use of Pe-ru-na. There is no use trying to deny this fact. As a rule, doctors dislike to admit it. There is now and then a courageous doctor who does admit it, however. In such cases Pe-ru-na is prescribed by the doctor himself. Even though the doctor suffers pecuniary loss by such a transaction his patient is benefited, which ought to be the doctor's chief concern.

We do not claim that doctors generally prescribe Pe-ru-na. But we do claim whenever Pe-ru-na is intelligently prescribed it rarely disappoints either the doctor or patient.

Mr. JAMES P. BRACKEN.

Nasal Catarrh and Indigestion.

Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City for the past fifteen years. He carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 10th Ave. He is Post Deputy of Grand Knights of Belgica Cella Council Knights of Columbus, N. Y. He writes as follows:

"For nearly a dozen years catarrh has bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times, also. I was advised to take Pe-ru-na and I took it as prescribed for a month when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Pe-ru-na cured me."

Kidney Disease.

Mr. Samuel A. Paxton, 1118 Tenth Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member I. O. O. F. and National Annuity Association, writes: "I am a well man today, thanks to your splendid medicine, Pe-ru-na. I was troubled with catarrh and kidney disease of long standing when I first began using Pe-ru-na. I soon found I was getting better, and continued taking it for four months. It relieved the system, leaving me well and strong and feeling better than I have in years."

Sad Visit Home.

MR. C. G. CONVERS.

Colds and Stomach Trouble.

Mr. C. G. Convers, Pres. Cold Storage Ice and Coal Co., Hot Springs, Ark., writes: "I had been troubled with a very serious case of catarrh for a number of years. Having tried many prescriptions by good physicians, I found myself no better."

"On the advice of a friend who had used Pe-ru-na with good results I purchased a bottle. The results were so good that I continued using it. Have, perhaps, in the last three years used a dozen bottles, which have kept me from the trying troubles of catarrh. I am never without a bottle of Pe-ru-na in my house."

"One always gets relief from colds and indigestion if you have Pe-ru-na."

Catarrh of Bladder.

Mr. Michael Rooney, 25 Fifth St., Watervliet, N. Y., writes: "If I had known of Pe-ru-na years ago I should have been saved much suffering. Under carelessness and exposure in my younger years my system got into a very bad condition before I was aware of it."

"My doctor thought that I had catarrh of the bladder and duly prescribed for me, but nothing did me any good."

"My friends advised me to try Pe-ru-na, for which I am very thankful, as it has cured me in two months, and I am in perfect health."

Catarrh of the Head and Stomach.

Mr. Frank Richter, of 309 East 2nd St., Winona, Minn., writes: "I take pleasure in recommending Pe-ru-na for catarrh of the stomach. Pe-ru-na cured me, and I know it will cure any one else who suffers from this disease. My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I read of Pe-ru-na in the papers, and five bottles cured me."

STANLEY AND DALZELL

Some three or four weeks ago the agricultural appropriation bill was under consideration in committee of the whole in the house of representatives...

Mr. Dalzell got his history of the New England school—the Harvard set—Henry Adams, Henry Cabot Lodge, Theodore Roosevelt and so on, not to forget William E. Curtis and Edward B. Ellis...

Oswley Stanley's reply to Dalzell was crushing and conclusive. He palpitated the two men, Hamilton and Jefferson, precisely as they had done...

Stanley did not dare to enter the lists without being armed cap-a-pie and he spent a week of almost ceaseless investigation night and day...

Alexander Hamilton was born a British subject, in the insignificant island of Nevis, in the West Indies. His father was a Scotchman and his mother a French woman...

As a political writer he was greater than Paine and little inferior to Burke. As an orator he was, perhaps, second to Henry only of the Revolutionary generation...

Rheumatism

Do you want to get rid of it? If so, take Dr. Miles' Nerve Modificator as directed in pamphlet around bottle. In addition to the direct curative properties it has a soothing effect upon the nervous system...

Dr. O. B. Rockaway, N. J. Your daughter says, "My mother has been cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. Miles' Nerve Modificator."

that the thing was accomplished in spite of Jefferson. And now it was that the Lord delivered Alexander and his faithful servant into the hands of the brilliant Kentuckian, Stephen A. Douglas...

But Hamilton, the adventurer, was not, and could not be, moved by the sentiments that were natural to these feelings. Hamilton made one great speech in the constitutional convention...

As the secretary of the treasury in Washington he was not his greatest. He had the gift of organization and he brought order out of chaos...

What were the policies of Alexander Hamilton? He would have had a president for life—he is elected every four years. He would have senators during good behavior—they serve a fixed and defined term...

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People...

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is not recommended for everything but kidney trouble, liver or bladder trouble it will be found a remedy for many of the most common ailments...

first to independence, then to the mastery of the land and sea. From the chaos of disunion and the wreck of centralization may he who ordained long preserve this constellation of states...

Either, drawn by the compelling gravity of a central force into its mighty vortex, is annihilated by the power which should have been the source of light and life. "From the chaos of disunion and the wreck of centralization may he who ordained long preserve this constellation of states..."

Tired nerves, with that "no ambition" feeling that is commonly felt in spring or early summer, can be easily and quickly allayed by taking what is known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative...

Parla in 1775. Crime was so rife in the good city of Paris in the year 1775 that the half of Paris were shown about morning in the morgue, and nets were lowered each night from the Pont Neuf to catch the perishing...

When you think of indigestion think of Kodol, for it is without a doubt the only preparation that completely digests all classes of food. And that is what you need when you have indigestion or stomach trouble—something that will act promptly and thoroughly...

The Evil Eye. The "evil eye" was one of the many superstitions that at one time beset humanity in the time of its ignorance. It was believed throughout the middle ages that certain persons had the power of cursing you by their glances...

Weak Women should read my "Book No. 4 For Women."

It was written expressly for women who are not well. The Book No. 4 tells of Dr. Shoop's "Night Cure" and just how these soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories can be successfully applied. The book, and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Write Dr. Shoop at Kansas, Wis. The Night Cure is sold by all dealers.

Didn't Get the Reward.

A jeweler hung a watch in his window and labeled it, "Look at this watch for 30 shillings!" And the unappreciated gentleman who stared at the article and then went in and wanted the 10 shillings had to get down on the floor with the jeweler and roll over and under him a number of times before he could be made to understand that he couldn't have any more than 10 shillings—London Telegraph.

A Living Skeleton

is the final condition of any child that has worms—it lives. Think of having something in your stomach that eats all you take as nourishment. Nine tenths of the babies have worms, maybe yours has. Be certain that it has not by giving it White's Cream Vermifuge—It keeps all worms in a tonic for the baby. Price 25 cents. Sold by A. R. Fisher.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Cloverport Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

Danger signal No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

Danger signal No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's the Cloverport proof:

William Johnson, Cloverport, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills in my case proved to be a very reliable remedy and I have no hesitancy in recommending them."

For six years my kidneys troubled me. The secretions were much too frequent in action and when allowed to stand contained a sediment. I was forced to rise several times during the night and as a result, my rest was greatly disturbed. My back ached severely, particularly at night and in the morning I would be so lame and sore that I could scarcely get around. Whenever I contracted the slightest cold, it settled on my kidneys and made my suffering more intense. Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Fisher's drug store, have given me the great relief from these troubles and I can give them my endorsement, knowing them to be a very reliable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 30 cents. Write to Doan's Kidney Pills, Buffalo, New York, for agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MYSTIC WAYS

Mr. Eskridge And Miss Pearl Muffett Marry, Separate, Marry And Separate Again, Then Are Re-married.

LAST WEDDING YESTERDAY

Hardinsburg Ky., May 25 (—Special) Payton Eskridge and Miss Pearl Muffett, each of whom on last Saturday secured a divorce dissolving former matrimonial bonds, were united in marriage this afternoon in the County Court Clerk's office. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Lennon.

Rumor has it that these people were first married to each other, but finding the matrimonial sea somewhat rough of navigation they became legally separated through the efforts of attorney V. G. Babbage several years ago. At a later date Mr. Eskridge married again as did his divorced wife. Upon finding themselves in this second venture each disembarked with a legal separation last Saturday, Mr. Babbage securing the divorces.

The "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again" motto was in their minds, and acting upon its advice they launched the matrimonial ship for the third voyage today, officered by the same crew failed on the first voyage.

Here's to their smooth sailing, a life long voyage, and a continuous stream of unbroken happiness.
